

Kabantsev Oleg V.

1. Tonkikh G.P., Kabantsev O.V., Granovsky A.V. Experimental and theoretical studies of a fragment of a building made of masonry construction reinforced by a system of external reinforcement works based on carbon fiber. Antiseismic construction. Structural safety, No.5. 2017.

<http://seismic-safety.ru/?q=article/707>

2. Kabantsev O.V., Mitrovich Bozhidar. Model engineering of a multicycle mechanism of reinforced concrete frame under biaxial stress state. – News of Higher Educational Institutions. The technology of textile industry. No.3 (369), pp 209-214. 2017

http://tp.ivgpu.com/wp-content/uploads/2017/09/369\_46.pdf

3. Kabantsev O.V. Elastoplastic Deformation of Clay Brick Masonry under Biaxial Stresses and Mechanisms of its Performance / O.V. Kabantsev, A.G. Tamrazyan // International Journal of Advanced and Applied Sciences Journal homepage:

<http://www.science-gate.com/IJAAS.html>

4. Perelmuter A.V., Kabantsev O.V. About the problem of analysis resistance bearing systems in failure of a structural element // A.V. Perelmuter, O.V. Kabantsev // International Journal for Computational Civil and Structural Engineering. 2018.ISSUE 3. Volume14. pp 103-113

<http://ijccse.iasv.ru/article/view/159/106>

5. Kabantsev O.V. B. Mitrovic. Deformation and power characteristics monolithic reinforced concrete bearing systems in the mode of progressive collapse. The conference VI International Scientific Conference “Integration, Partnership and Innovation in Construction Science and Education” (IPICSE-2018). Jornal MATEC Web Conf. Volume 251, 2018

<https://doi.org/10.1051/mateconf/201825102047>

6. Kabantsev O.V. B. Mitrovic. Justification of the special limit state characteristics for monolithic reinforced concrete bearing systems in the progressive collapse mode. According to the results of the conference VII International Symposium Actual Problems of Computational Simulation in Civil Engineering. 1–8 July 2018, Novosibirsk. Journal «IOP Conference Series: Materials Science and Engineering (MSE), Volume 456

<http://iopscience.iop.org/issue/1757-899X/456/1>